

International PMTO Conference in Aarhus, Denmark

1.1 About the Conference

The conference will be based on the program PMTO® (Parent Management Training – Oregon Model), one of the strongest evidence-based family interventions in the world, PMTO has a 50-year research background that began at the Oregon Social Learning Center and has continued with prestigious sites such as the Behavior Center in Oslo. The Danish National Centre for Social Research (SFI) will be at the conference in 2017 and will share the first results from a randomized-controlled trial conducted in Denmark for families with children and youth with behavior problems. These results, together with the dissemination of the latest information and outcomes from, among others, Mexico, Norway, Iceland, the Netherlands, Kansas and Michigan (USA), enjoy great interest and could bring together researchers, developers, therapists and other professionals, local and national decision makers, implementation consultants, etc.

The conference will also provide a unique opportunity to network and exchange experiences and further development of both specific program initiatives of PMTO and related program initiatives where the PMTO research base and partial/parallel elements are included (MST, IY, KEEP, TFCO, MultiFunc). A deeper understanding of identification, prevention and treatment of conduct problems in children and adolescents is necessary to stop and change a persistent negative trend of increased behavior problems, anxiety, crime and negative impacts to social and educational systems. This in turn will have significant personal and societal positive impact and provide a sound basis for an early preventive intervention. It is hoped that the conference will contribute and be an impetus to further dissemination of effective methodologies, development of methods, and future research projects.

The conference program has been created in cooperation between VIA University College in Aarhus, Denmark, Danish PMTO-municipalities, Danish National Board of Social Services, Implementation Sciences International, Inc. (USA), The Behavior center in Oslo, PI Research in the Netherlands and the Center for PMTO in Iceland which is located at the Government Agency for Child Protection.

The conference will take place in Aarhus on the 7th and 8th of June 2017. We are expecting about 200 persons - primarily from Europe and North America. The conference will consist of keynote presentations, sessions, workshops and poster sessions.

Den Gamle By (The old City)

Den Gamle By wishes to give you an historical experience and insight of how life and times changed in Denmark, from before the industrial period through modern times in the 1920s, and to a period of welfare, by using real live role players and atmospheric historical buildings, interiors and accessories.

Aros Museum

ARoS is a house of art where the guests can be pleased, enlightened and challenged. The architecture is of international class. The same is the art. In addition, both offer experiences of high carat: from light to thrill, from attitude to entertainment, from joy to challenge.

Moesgård Museum

Prehistory presented innovatively in a breathtaking architectural setting makes for a world-class museum experience when you visit Moesgaard Museum. The past comes alive and visitors get a better understanding of our history and how we arrived at the present. Moesgaard Museum is a huge attraction not only because of the architectural design of the museum and the exhibitions, but also because of its location in the beautiful natural surroundings overlooking the forest and the sea.

A walk in Latinerkvarteret

Latinerkvarteret is the oldest preserved area in Aarhus, and originated in the late 1400s. Here you can find designer clothes and crafts for individualists in the city's old quarter. If it were not for the unique Scandinavian atmosphere (and the Danish weather) in the city's oldest area, you would think that you were in southern Europe.

Aarhus Domkirke

With a length of 93 metres Aarhus Cathedral is the longest church in Denmark, and it seats approx. 1200 people. From the beginning it was dedicated to St Clement, the patron saint of sailors.
